Cambria and

Portola Valley - California

Other Places you have Lived:

Menlo Park, CA, Annapolis, MD

College Attended & Degrees:

UC Berkeley BA in English, Teaching Credential

Still Working or Retired:

Retired, Free lance writing

What did you do for a living:

Elementary School Teacher K-4

What do you do for Fun:

Travel! Hoping to see all seven continents by the end of 2017. Fun is taking continuing education classes at Cal and Stanford without writing papers and getting a grade and having time to read and write more or less daily..

Cooking continues to be a source of pleasure and creativity for me.

Foraging at the local farmers markets is the best! Steve and I enjoy entertaining friends in our home. Love the SF Opera, Ballet, and Symphony.

Accomplishments in your Life:

Raising two sons and serving in several leadership roles in the community including writing a cookbook for a fundraiser are at the top. In my early 50's I decided to get a teaching credential at Cal. Last year I retired from teaching elementary school at age 67! This summer I took a Food Writing class at Stanford (for a grade) and am starting my final career, writing, in Cambria, CA for the local newspaper focusing on our fabulous farmers market.

Best High School Memories All of my memories at OHS are fondly warm.. Life was fun with friends and school activities -- Homecoming floats, football and basketball games, student government, Miss Wintz and her Thespain plays . . . The day Kennedy was shot, the show went on -- was it Our Town, Gayla? Writing the school news weekly for the Press Courier for 3 years taught me a ton -- and can't forget The Buzz. But most of all the great class of '65.. here's to US!

Favorite Teacher and Why

Joan Bahns for her inspiring, enthusiastic, and engaging teaching.

Favorite Class and Why

Honors English 3 and Journalism with Joan Bahns. Journalism class afforded Sylvia and me those infamous "Press Passes." Oh, the places we went
